Marie C. Powell

FEB 18, 1937 - DEC 1, 2007

Marie C. Powell was born on February 18, 1937 in St. Helens, Oregon to John & Nora Olson. She died at her daughters home in Portland on December 1, 2007 at the age of 70.

After graduation from St. Helens High School in 1955, Marie went on to Phagan's School of Cosmotology. On October 21, 1960 she married Delburt E. Powell in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in St. Helens. Delburt recently preceded her in death on November 25, 2007.

Marie was always working on something. Her first job was in a Beauty Salon, and then she worked part-time for many years at J.C. Penney. In her later years she spent alot of time treasure hunting at garage sales. She rented a space at Second Time Around and worked there a couple of days a week.

She loved to take care of her family. She cooked awesome meals, and her home always smelled of fresh baked goods when the kids came home from school. She was talented at many things. She played the accordian, was an excellent seamstress, did floral arrangements, and also created beautiful paintings.

Marie is survived by her children: Shannon Nabuolsi of Portland; Son: John Powell of Sugar City, Utah; Mother: Nora Olson of Warren; Sister: Karen Basker of Walnut Creek, CA.; Niece: Elizabeth Basker & five grandchildren.

Mom - You were the best mother anyone could ever hope for. You lived the example every young woman needs when learning how to be a good wife, mother, daughter and so on. You were always there for me teaching me so much. How to sew, cook and can, arts and crafts and of course make a house a home without spending a lot of money. After I got married I most valued our friendship and help learning to be a wife and mother. And you were there for my children. I am so blessed that Joseph and Alex could come stay with you when I went back to work. I hear frequently what wonderful people they are growing into and how that reflects on the way they were raised. This is as much a complement to you and dad as anyone. Thanks so much. I love you. I miss you.##imported-begin##Shannon Naboulsi##imported-end##
