To Darin and his FamilyLife brings us many peopleWhom we have the joy to knowBut ones that are very specialAre those whose acquaintance we have madeThey may not be as close as friendsOr share our deepest thoughtsBut life would be a lesser thingIf it were not for the acquaintances we makeAn acquaintance is a special personWhom we are lucky enough to know.How glad I am that Darin was a part of my school years growing up. We were never close friends but did exchange a hello and a smile in the passing or the halls or while sitting in class.I had few conversations with Darin as his road to travel was different road than mine, but I do remember him as a quite, kind and very giving person. The thing I remember most about Darin was his shy smile.I do not know what kind of man he grew up to be but I'm sure he was someone to be proud of. As a former classmate I have wondered about Darin over the years and it sadens me to hear of his passing. My condolences to his family and may he RIP as he will be forever young and live always in hearts.Jacinda##imported-begin##Jacinda Felton##imported-end##
